Wire Transfer Information for Student Payments

INTERNATIONAL WIRE PAYMENTS:
Those attempting to make a wire transfer from an international bank account would likely benefit from using Flywire, a firm that offers wholesale exchange rates for international wire transfers. This service offers a Best Price Guarantee on exchange rates (as detailed here), and avoids the uncertainty associated with international wire transfers by allowing students and their financial benefactors to specify the amount that Georgetown is to receive. International students and their benefactors with foreign bank accounts denominated in US dollars should note that a traditional wire payment is likely the least costly method.

Please note that Georgetown University receives no financial benefit from its association with Flywire.

DOMESTIC WIRE PAYMENTS:
Those attempting to wire funds from domestic bank accounts or attempting to make a transfer from an international source but do not wish to take advantage of Flywire should use the following information when making payment arrangements:

FINANCIAL INFORMATION
Wire transfers must be denominated in US Dollars (USD).

Georgetown sends automatic confirmation of receipt of wire transfer payments via email to the student’s Georgetown email address at the time the payment is received and posted to his/her student account. Flywire transfers take up to five (5) business days to be received and direct international wire transfers can take up to ten (10) business days to be received. If the student has not received notification that the wire payment has been received and posted after the requisite period has passed, he or she should reach out to Revenue & Receivables at studentaccounts@georgetown.edu or 202-687-7100.

Notes:

- Georgetown only refunds overpayments via ACH (direct deposit to US-based personal checking or savings accounts) or paper check. Georgetown does not issue refunds via Flywire or wire transfer.
- Georgetown University does not charge any fees on incoming wire transfers. International wire transfers may be subject to fees from intermediary banks. To ensure that the full amount reaches Georgetown, international transferors should indicate to their bank that they will take responsibility for fees.
